Novelty, inventive step and industrial applicability

1. The invention according to claim 1 satisfies the requirements of PCT Article 33(2) to 33(4) in respect of novelty, inventive step and industrial applicability.
2. Since none of the documents cited in the search report or acknowledged in the introductory part of the description discloses the features of independent claim 1 in their entirety, the subject matter of claim 1 is novel.
3. The documents cited in the search report contain nothing to incite a person skilled in the art to incorporate the drying system according to the characterising part of claim 1 into a coating device according to DE19857045 (D1). The measure comprising at least one device for applying the compound and, downstream thereof in the direction in which the workpiece is conveyed, at least two separate NIR dryers is the outcome of a step that is not a logical development of the cited prior art. The coating device according to claim 1 consequently involves an inventive step.

4. The subject matter of claim 1 can be used and produced and is therefore industrially applicable.
5. Dependent claims 2 to 5 contain advantageous and non-obvious developments of the coating device according to claim 1 and, thus, likewise satisfy the requirements in respect of novelty, inventive step and industrial applicability (PCT Article 33(2) and (4)).
